Rock Island Armory VR80 Magazine Well Installation Instructions

Thank you for purchasing this Competition Magazine Well. These are designed for the competitive shooter who is looking for every advantage when setting up their competition firearms. This part is NOT designed for hunting, self defense, military or law enforcement use. We highly recommend that you have a competent gunsmith install this part however we have included these instructions for those of you who have some training in firearms disassembly and reassembly. We are not liable for any damages cause by the incorrect installation of this part. Before handling any firearm make sure that it is unloaded and safe to handle.

Included in the package you will find and A3GMunitions Official sticker, the Magazine Well, an Allen wrench, these instructions and 5 screws that are designed to hold the two halves of the mag well together. The mag well comes assembled.

Loosen the five screws with the included Allen wrench. Gently separate the halves of the mag well.

It is easiest to install the mag well if you set the butt stock on the bench with the muzzle up and lean the gun against your chest or cradle it between your arms.

Each half of the mag well should fit snugly on the sides of the receiver and slide into place. Once in place hold the mag well together while gently tightening the screws. You will feel the screw “bottom out” when it is all the way in but finger tight is plenty. The magazine well should fit tightly and not move at all when correctly fitted.

Your A3GMunitions.com VR80 Magazine Well has a limited lifetime warranty. We will repair or replace the item if breakage occurs during normal use for the the life of the product. This warranty is only valid for the original purchaser and any warranty claim must begin by securing an RMA from us for return of the broken/ defective product. Return shipping is the responsibility of the buyer however we will cover shipping of the new unit.

Be safe and good luck!

Thank you!
